ada and St. Albert service clubs. Wreaths were laid by Silver Cross Mother, Mrs. M. Potter, Mayor Ray Gibbon for Town of St. Albert, President W. A. Mrs. Joan Jakes from Family Life Education Council in Edmonton, presented the program, entitled "Communication within the Family." After the initial presentation by Mrs. Jakes and selected group leaders, the audience was divided into a discussion group in which the implications of the talk were thoroughly discussed.

On Thursday, Nov. 12 the second program in the series will be presented at the school beginning at 8 p.m.

Entitled "Communicating Values and Goals," the presentation will be directed by Miss E. Barnes. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Jamison wins close race with Devereux

Close to 500 enthusiastic Conservative members and supporters jammed the Morinville Recreation Centre main hall Tuesday evening for the biggest and most exciting nominating convention held in St. Albert constituency for many years. Five candidates contested the nomination.

Voting went to three ballots before St. Albert's Ernie Jamison was declared the winner over John Devereux of the Lamoureux area in the south east portion of the constituency. Picking up 111 votes out of 362 registered on the first ballot, Jamison led all the way, closely followed by Devereux.

First ballot went Jamison 111, Devereux 87, Bill Flynn 67, Ray Gibbon 57 and Barbara Wheatley 40. Second ballot with 360 voting showed Jamison 136, Devereux 97, Flynn 66 and Gibbon 61. Third ballot gave Jamison 180, Devereux 121, and Flynn 54. Three hundred and fifty-five voted on third ballot.

Provincial Leader Peter Lougheed drew tremendous response as guest speaker and Marcel Lambert MP and Dr. Hugh Horner MLA from Barrhead also spoke briefly. Roy Watson, president of the Provincial Association introduced Mr. Lougheed.

Bob Sewell, Northern vice-president, assisted by Jim Parker conducted the registration and voting.

Chairman Rene Kambour-off, president of the St. Albert Constituency Conservative Association chaired the meeting and aided by Bob Sewell and his competent team, kept the meeting moving well, to finish up by 11:30 p.m.

The Sing Out St. Albert group, under the direction of Bill Chiles provided most appropriate entertainment, and their fine variety of numbers were enthusiastically applauded.

Now that the excitement has died down, president Kambour-off reminds all concerned that all membership cards are due in at his office or to Secretary Helen Rogers by Nov. 23.

Mr. Lougheed said an election might be in the offing for May or June but whenever it comes his party will be ready. Jamison's nomination was the 47th for the Conservatives.

ERNIE JAMISON -- elected Conservative candidate for the St. Albert constituency at the convention held Nov. 10, as he delivers his nomination address.

University band coming here

A real treat is in store for St. Albert residents on Sunday, Nov. 29, when the University of Alberta Concert Band will be performing at Sir George Simpson School at 8 p.m.

The band comprises approximately 75 members, all U of A students from all faculties. Now in their sixth year, the band has already been acclaimed one of the finest in Western Canada.

Dr. John Ittis, formerly assistant director of bands, at the University of Illinois, is the group's very capable director. Dr. Ittis is in the U of A's Department of Music where he is director of brass instruments. He is also a member of The Edmonton Symphony.

The program will include something for everyone as it will vary from classical to Broadway -- military to modern -- and some Christmas favorites.

The concert is being sponsored by the St. Albert Lions Band and all proceeds will be used by the band to purchase music, equipment and uniforms. Tickets are available at Emery's Pipe Shop, St. Albert Pharmacy and any member of the Lions Band.

This promises to be a very entertaining evening and the Lions Band are particularly interested in having a good turn-out so mark your calendar now and pick up your tickets early.

Face-off in front of Leduc goalie Stan Kern, Jim Read (15) of the Comets about to face off with Gary Leskow of Leduc.

St. Albert Comets coach Ron Yanosik (left) explaining to Jake Vaugeois what went wrong in Comets opening game.

Comets lose two as league play begins

With only one practice under their belt, St. Albert Comets took a drubbing from the Leduc Oilers in the opening game of the Edmonton Central Hockey League last Wednesday.

Coach Ron Yanosik's squad played quite well in the opening few minutes of the first period and missed several good scoring chances. Towards the end of the period Garry Leskow and Pete Poland scored for Leduc and they ended the first period 2 - 0.

Comets then ran into the penalty parade and played much of the second period shorthanded and with this type of play, fell behind 5 - 0 as Don Pruss, Len Zalapski and Real Gama-che scored singles for the Oilers.

Just after the third period started, St. Albert had the man advantage when point man Richie Perrault let a hard slap shot go and young Ron Kalita deflected it home for the Comets only goal. Leduc goalie Stan Kern was always in the right spot as he spoiled many Comets drives.

Lack of practice and a number of old legs could not keep up the pace as Leduc scored four more times to win 9 - 1.

Coach Yanosik praised goalie Ray Busche for his fine job in the nets as many times Leduc had two and three attackers in front of the Comet goaltender, only to see Ray come up with save after save.

The Comets then travelled to Stony Plain Arena the following night to take on their old rivals Spruce Grove Mercuries, and put up a heck of a battle before falling 6 - 5.

Rick Pugliese opened the scoring for the Comets in the early minutes of the first period before W. Watts tied it up for Spruce Grove.

Veteran Fred Hesse put St. Albert ahead with his first goal of the season but P. Ryan again tied it as the first period ended 2 - 2.

The Comets looked sharp and had the edge in play.

Both teams scored twice in the second period with the Comets getting markers from Pugliese and Jim Devaney while G. Smith and D. MacMillan blinked the light for the Grove.

Comets fell behind 5 - 4 early in the third period on a hotly disputed goal by MacMillan which appeared to hit the centre crossbar behind Busche.

Referee Ron Panchyshyn allowed the goal to stand much to the St. Albert clubs disapproval.

Ron Kalita tipped in a shot from the point to narrow the score 6 - 5 but with time fast running out. With slightly over a minute left in the game Coach Yanosik pulled his goalie in favor of the extra attacker.

Veteran Jim Reid was sent out to win the face-off and he succeeded five straight times to draw the puck back to the point. Terry Dube let a wicked shot go that hit Spruce Grove goalie on the shoulder before falling into his glove. The Comets were all around the net when the final whistle blew but could not get the equalizer.

Coach Yanosik had several new players dressed and with some practice sessions the Comets will win their share of games.

Several of the older players look badly out of shape.

The next scheduled game is slated for Stony Plain November 19.

who won a prize at the Community League's Halloween dance. First caller to telephone the right name to the Gazette was Mrs. James Flynn of 9 Birch Drive, at about 11:30 Wednesday morning. The lovely buckskin jacket worn by VI was made by her husband, Howard, and the balance of the costume by herself. She was not wearing a clear plastic mask as many people thought but used theatrical make-up very effectively.

Candidate's viewpoint

In asking for your support in my bid for the nomination as councillor for Division Four, I feel you are entitled to know something of my personal background.

My high school education was completed at St. Anthony's College in North Edmonton, where I graduated in 1960. I am 29 years old.

For a year I worked for the City of Edmonton as a truck driver, before joining a finance company. My experience in the financial field has been of considerable help to me in the years since I decided that farming was really the thing I most wanted to do.

For a while I farmed with my father, Mose Comeau, and my brother Roger. When I was able to purchase a half section of land I continued to work with my dad and my brother. It is a mixed farming operation, raising grain and hogs.

Notice to Parents

Dental cavities can be reduced 65 - 70 per cent by the administration of fluorides on an individual basis where communal fluoridation is not available. The fluoride content of the patients existing water supply must be known before fluorides are prescribed. A sample of water can be brought and tested for fluoride content at the Sturgeon Health Unit. Fluoride supplements are then supplied and adjusted free of charge according to the fluoride content of the patients existing water supply.

For enquires, please contact the Sturgeon Health Unit.

Since council affairs affect all of us, and I am keenly interested in MD Sturgeon matters, I felt it was time to take a more active part in this area.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

Looking ahead in a high-rise

One of the directions taken in senior citizen housing under a program first formulated by the provincial government over ten years ago and now guided by the Alberta Housing Corporation offers new far-reaching benefits to hundreds of our senior citizens. The swing is to a choice in accommodation for the more active, older men and women who look ahead to apartment living in the mainstream of high-density areas of a city with rents within range of their pension payments. A planned high-rise project is well under way in Edmonton. This year, another 16 storey apartment block, the first of its kind in Calgary, opened its doors to 300 residents. Designed for low-income families with rents as low as $34 a month, the majority of the tenants will be senior citizens. Similar developments spearheaded by the Corporation are slated for other major centres.

At mid-year, initiating procedures for the building of Senior Citizens accommodation were spun off by the government under control of the Corporation, and provision was made for the giving of grants to church groups, service clubs and other non-profit organizations or foundations to assist them in putting up lodges and other self-contained residential units in their local areas. Sixty-nine lodges, managed by independent foundations and in outskirting areas, have already been erected throughout the province.

A million gallons of water a day

Increased industrialization of once-rural areas is creating new and future demands for pollution-free water. A promising and practical solution in the form of a 35-mile pipeline carrying treated water from Edmonton to five municipalities northeast of the city was arranged this year. The line was built through co-operative efforts of the local governments and services provided by the provincial Department of Public Works.

The joint water supply system, operated by the Northeast Water Board, will provide enough water for domestic and industrial users in the areas for the next 25 years. While the design capacity of the line will meet all potential demands up to 1995, the system has a planned life span in excess of 40 years. One point will receive one million gallons per day. Built in three stages, under contract to private firms by tender, the actual planning and construction was co-ordinated by the Department of Public Works. Project financing was also arranged through the department in the form of a loan providing 20 per cent of construction costs. The remainder was financed by the municipalities concerned through the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation. A similar line to Leduc was completed a few years ago.

New grass-roots team formed

Fanning out into five newly-defined areas throughout the province are members of a 5-man team formed to carry out a new regional concept of industrial development created by the Department of Industry and Tourism. The operational boundaries for each of these new Regional Development areas were developed using as a base; census divisions, population patterns, transportation patterns and general economic units. As a resident of the region, the officers will assist smaller centres which do not have a full-time industrial co-ordinator or commissioner.

The move marks the beginning of an active grass-roots plan for the future. It has been established to assist as many secondary manufacturers and firms as possible in marketing their products, developing export potential, or diversifying into a broader product range.

The representatives will work with federal and other available programs which the area may not be using to the best advantage. The Regional Industrial Development Officers will be located in Medicine Hat, Calgary, Lacombe, St. Paul and Peace River.

Today's railroad for tomorrow's loads

It's a major, down-to-earth railroading achievement in today's space age. Fully-loaded, diesel-powered unitized trains snaking through rugged mountain terrain. One-hundred-car trains weighing over 13,000 tons, that can unload on the move. Despite a near 2000-foot climb, the modern Alberta Resources Railway is meeting its service expectations and hauling capabilities. From the beginning, government planners specified a one per-cent grade factor would be necessary for the A.R.R. to meet today's shipping requirements and tomorrow's needs.

Now, the possibility of doubling, or even tripling, Alberta's multi-million dollar coal output from the immense coal reserves of the Smoky River valley near Grande Cache at the northern terminus of the line is a foreseeable reality. The movement of grain to the Pacific coast from the rich Peace River country by this shorter, more economical rail link will continue, with increases being scheduled. Railway spokesmen are now looking for possible pulp mill and iron developments up the line with meat packing and further plant build-ups in the use of by-products from the oil and gas industry.

Cutting new ground for agri-sales

A new movement to increase widespread use of modern marketing techniques is taking shape, based in and staffed by the Department of Agriculture. In line with trends towards marketing and merchandising, is the recent government appointment of an Alberta Marketing Commissioner. Provincial agriculture experts define one of the commissioner's primary job functions as being able to move quickly and freely through international trade circles to find new markets for Alberta's agri-products.

Included in the expanded 3-pronged program to develop export, domestic, and institutional markets, is the systematic monitoring of total department programs and the co-ordinating of all marketing efforts.

Underlining the over-all activities of the department to build agri-business within and outside the province will be support services. Their role will include the loaning of available staff to work with producer organizations, processors, farm organizations, boards, commissions, and liaison with other federal and provincial departments and agencies.

An initiating project this summer involved the Alberta Hog Producers Marketing Board and a jointly-sponsored travelling barbecue booth to promote pork.

Made to measure municipal progress

Detailing a controlled work and time frame for the orderly and economic development of built-up areas and backspreads of land of entire municipalities is the kind of study work continually being prepared by the researchers at the Provincial Planning Branch of the Department of Municipal Affairs, the executive arm of The Provincial Planning Board. This work includes such things as the existing and potential economic base, trends in population density shifts, present and projected traffic patterns, essential services required, and above all, human values.

Land use studies and the charting of regional and sub-regional plans are done for departments of the provincial government requiring land-use guidelines as well as established regional commissions, cities, and other planning agencies. In sparsely settled areas of Alberta, without a localized planning body, the Board recommends the establishment of new towns or other forms of compact resource development which the Branch interprets in the preparation of over-all plans for such developments. The ultimate over-riding factor in all planning by the Board and the Branch is to ensure that future municipal progress is made-to-measure within terms and conditions that bring about a well-balanced and wholesome mix in the inter-relationship of residential, commercial and industrial and other urban areas providing for a better urban environment.

Mayor reports to Board of Trade

MORINVILLE

At the November supper meeting of the Morinville Board of Trade, chaired by Albert Ouellette and Norman Chalfoux as host, Mayor Arthur Stapleton reported on the recent Urban Alberta Municipalities Association convention held in Calgary.

The 1970 convention was the second largest record with 770 registered delegates in attendance," said the mayor. Some 96 resolutions were presented and 90 per cent of them passed. "It was the best attended and most constructive convention that I have ever attended," said Mayor Stapleton.

He reported that the assembly was informed by Hon. Fred Colbourne that new legislation is coming regarding mobile homes in Alberta. Hon. Gordon Taylor told the convention that in 1972 new street improvement programs for urban municipalities will be initiated and that Morinville will be getting its share according to population.

Another resolution of interest to everyone is a new resolution presented for assessment and taxation. A white paper on taxation was presented to the delegate for their approval, and will be presented to the Alberta Cabinet. The overall consensus was that taxes were originally levied for local improvements, and that education, health and welfare as well as other supplementary requisitions should not be levied as property tax. While the association appreciated the fact that these things have to be paid for, it was felt that other sources of revenue should be tapped, reported the Morinville Mayor.

Another important resolution was discussed on "Age of Majority" for Albertans to be set at 18 years of age. This will give both young men and women individual rights to sign legal documents, contract marriage without parental consent, etc.

The mayor also reported that it was the general consensus that the Alberta Government also realizes that the municipalities as well, have reached the age of majority in Alberta.

It was also reported that in 1970, 52 per cent of the proposals of the convention had been acted upon by the provincial cabinet.

A nominating committee was appointed by the chairman to present a slate of nominations for the 1971 slate of officers at the December meeting. They are: Leo Brochu, Ralph Gaetz and Maurice Perras.

Mr. Ouellette thanked the mayor for giving highlights of the latest municipal convention. Other members of the town council in attendance were Councillors Anne Masyk and Vincent Curtis.

The December meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 1 and Mrs. Rose Martel will convene the meeting.

Gibbons moves to up tax penalty

First statutory meeting of the council of the Village of Gibbons was held on Thursday, November 5.

Joe Mabbutt being reflected to council submitted his Oath of Office.

Thomas R. Morin was elected mayor for the current year by members of council and Joe Mabbutt was elected deputy mayor.

A vote of thanks was given Mr. Mabbutt for a job well done during the last four years as mayor.

Joe Mabbutt and Spencer Holmes agreed to go to Morinville to meet with members of their council about their new radar equipment.

The secretary was asked to get prices for a gas motor and pump to be installed at the reservoir so that water can be pumped from the reservoir to the tower during power failures such as we have just recently experienced. It was agreed that this type of pump was needed in case of fire, if water could be pumped from the reservoir to the tower without electricity then the gas motor and pump that we now have in the tower could be started to maintain pressure in the water mains.

A motion was made to raise the penalty on unpaid taxes from five per cent to eight per cent starting Jan. 1st. Bylaw 138 to cover this motion was read three times and passed.

A discussion on the unwillingness of the owner of the house sitting on curling grounds to move it was held. There being no reply from council's lawyer as to what can be done to have this house moved, Councillor Holmes offered to see the lawyer personally to get information.

Owners of cars, trucks and trailers are asked to please, if they are not being used, have them moved off the streets so that a proper job can be done when snow ploughing.

Meeting adjourned by Mayor Morin.

Calahoo Locals

Hallowe'en was a happy time for the small fry around Calahoo this year. Dressed up and painted they were really cute little goblins brought by their parents from house to house to enjoy the treats that filled their bags.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete McLeod invited the neighbors and friends in to view the movie pictures of Doug and Lillian's wedding. An enjoyable evening was spent.

Congratulations go to Miss Annette Kramps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kramps of Calahoo for her scholastic achievement. The Awards Night was held at Horse Hill school Oct. 23, and Annette was presented with a medal and a pin for the highest standing in Grade 10 with an average of 81.7 per cent.

St. Catherine's Parish in Calahoo held their pot luck supper Nov. 8 - a good turn out enjoyed the good food and visiting and it was announced that their turkey bingo will be held on Nov. 29 in the church basement.

On Nov. 1 Mrs. Lucienne Vader had a pleasant surprise when Mr. and Mrs. Myles Kerr and Mr. and Mrs. Pete McLeod went to help her celebrate her birthday.

A second anniversary mass was held in Calahoo Roman Catholic church for Mrs. George Loyer's passing recently.

Mr. George Loyer had his children, Bernadette, Mrs. Henry Thacszyk from B.C., Georgina, Mrs. Alvin Cyre from Elizabeth Colony near Bonnyville, Edna, Mrs. Herbert Bell, and Lawrence Callihoo with him and gathered at Mrs. Clara Loyer's for a buffet dinner. Clara's sister, Mrs. Mary Callihoo and Loretta and Joyce were also present so all 33 relatives had a happy reunion.

STORM.. we can stop to explain!

In the past two weeks, Calgary Power customers have been plagued by power interruptions. In a nutshell, this was the problem - ICE. When you have just the right combination of circumstances . . . heavy snow, high winds and moderate temperatures . . . ice builds up on the wires and insulators and transformers. (If you were out during the recent storm you likely saw a heavy coating of ice on overhead wires!) This condition causes circuits to short, and kicks off the line. And bang. You're without power. Add to this the problem of heavily-drifted country roads making travel virtually impossible for repair crews, and you have some idea of the problems we faced. We had upwards of 250 men, some working 48 hours without a break, tending to the needs of 35,000 customers, over 9,000 square miles, and served by 8,100 miles of line. Quite a task!

and so we say thanks..
to our consumers.. For patience during the storm.
and our staff.. For efforts far in excess of normal.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Hittinger were feted at a family supper in Edmonton hosted by their three children: - Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bijoy (Lorraine) and Mrs. Rita Kluthe and their only son Raymond. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hittinger were guest of honor at a social evening, held in the Morinville Legion Hall with some 90 guests present. They were presented with a health chair and a silver cake plate, with Mr. Robert Bijou proposing the toast to the happy couple and acting as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woytkiw were entertained at a banquet for some 175 guests held in Edmonton with Mr. Frank Lakasta of Edmonton as master of ceremonies. ## Calahoo resident passes

Mr. Edward Loyer, a long time resident of Calahoo passed on in Stony Plain Hospital on Nov. 1 at the age of 75 years.

Pioneer passes

The sympathy of the district is extended to Freddy Monninger on the death of his father Mr. Adolf Monninger.

Mr. Monninger was born July 16, 1903 and moved to the Green Willow district of Calahoo in 1931 where he farmed till 1962. His wife predeceased him in 1961. He lived in Morinville and later made his home at Mr. Leonard Golden's where the abrupt end came in a harvesting accident on October 3rd.

The funeral service was held in Connelly-McKinley's Chapel on October 7 with Rev. W. K. Batty officiating and interment in Westlawn Cemetery.

The 23rd Psalm was the theme of the service.

Mr. Loyer farmed in the district and later sold his place and moved into a house opposite the former Joe Vollmer residence now owned by George Cust and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cust. This year Edward spent a lot of his time in hospital both in city and at Stony Plain and the deepest sympathy of the district goes out to his relatives.

The prayers and wake were held at Ed's brother Frank Loyer's home in the city and he was buried in Villeneuve Cemetery with the service held in Villeneuve Church on Nov. 5 with Connelly and McKinley in charge.

As I See It

By Rose Martel

I have been asked on several occasions to give my view in this column on women's liberation. . . Now if you don't think that is a leaded subject, well you just never stumbled over a package of TNT. However, I was asked, so here goes...

I honestly believe Women's Liberation is unrealistic for several reasons... let us face the facts gals we are not men -- we cannot compare with men, neither physically nor biologically and, I, for one don't want to. It is indeed a sad thing when women want to give up being women and become like men.

Democracy to me means "You are as good as I am" not "I am as good as you are." Before women demand equality in all things, why not take advantage of the rights we have now and make good use of them without becoming telephone poll climbers, garbage truck drivers, or miners. If we demand for equality, we must be prepared to assume the same tasks as men. I am a woman, and believe me, I like it that way. I feel equal to any man when I discuss business or civic matters. I feel very strongly, that I am a responsible citizen and parent, as a woman, as much as any man. Today, the woman is fast becoming recognized by the church in the western world as a participant, not an necessary subject, ruled exclusively by man made laws and councils. But... I like a man to open a door for me, hold a chair for me, take me to dinner and treat me as someone special.

As I see it -- I like things just the way they are -- as the old song says, "I enjoy being a girl." Many aggressive and demanding females are demanding liberation, but what they mean is RECLAMATION. I like a man to be aggressive and yet gentlemanly, demanding and yet tender. And that, my dear friends, is enough on that subject of Women's Liberation. As women, we are born with many advantages, let us keep them.

Namao Beef Club draws calves

The Namao 4-H Beef Club held its regular monthly meeting in the Namao Church basement on Monday Nov. 2. Eleven of the members were present and the main discussion was the purchase of their club calves. We also have a new assistant leader - Mr. Bud Horricks.

On Wednesday, Nov. 4, the members all met at the home of Jack and Bob Stott to draw for the calves. The club has Herefords this year.

An extra big thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stott for feeding a real hungry bunch of 4-H'ers, also a sincere thank you to Mr. Alan Sweetnam and Mr. Don Danard for getting the calves for the club again this year.

Cardiff News

By Florence Vranas
Four men from Cardiff district took advantage of Vancouver joining the National Hockey League.

On Saturday, Nov. 7, Floyd Vollrath, Sid Weiss, Bill Rockwell and Maurice Schayes had the pleasure of witnessing the game between Vancouver Canucks and Toronto Maple Leafs which was played at the Vancouver Colosseum.

They were among 120 people who flew by chartered jet to the game from Edmonton. Their seats in the stadium were situated in the seventh row from the ice behind one of the goals.

As this was the first flight for all four, they were thankful there was no heavy fog either at take-off at 3 p.m. nor when they returned to Edmonton Municipal Airport at about 11:30 p.m.

With NHL games this close to home it is likely many more fans will be "stepping out" on a Saturday evening to watch a game in person.

Some unusual excitement took place at the Mickelsons' last week. Mariann's pet rabbit which was kept in a cage was found to have been cruelly attacked and only barely alive. The cage was closed and no holes had been made in it. Efforts to save the rabbit's life were futile but, next day the mystery was solved when the culprit, a mink, was found and caught in with the chickens.

The fine weekend found adults and children alike outdoors enjoying some of the natural winter sports Cardiff has to offer. Some tobogganing and skiing on the hills was indulged in while others tried out their skates for the first time

A special mass will be held on Nov. 28, 7:30 p.m., for all their departed brother knights, followed by a "get-together" at the Recreation Centre. We hope the Knights and their wives will make a special effort to attend.

A social evening to honor Remi Bolle and Marie Anne Regimbald was held last Saturday at the Community Centre. Marie Anne will become the bride of Remi on Nov. 14.

A three hour session in rug making and needlepoint will be given in early January. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Lucienne Pelletier or Mrs. Mary Quaghebeur as soon as possible.

Lionel Hebert heavy duty mechanic for R. Angus Co., Edmonton, was flown by "air bus" to Fort Nelson, Thursday, where he was to take another plane to fly 100 miles further to do some repair work. He was unable to complete the job as quickly as anticipated as he was delayed in Fort Nelson due to heavy fog.

Mr. Walter Van De Walle attended the United Grain Growers convention in Winnipeg last week.

The second session in Adult French Catechism will be held on Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. at the Rec Centre. Every adult should make an effort to attend these sessions given by Father Smith. They are very interesting and educational.

Calahoo W.I. notes

The 116th meeting of Calahoo WI was held on Nov. 3 (one week late due to roads and weather) at Mr. Ferd Lischewski's home with 12 members and one visitor present. Stephanie had another meeting to attend so missed the WI one.

This meeting opened with "The Creed" after which the hostess read a poem entitled "My Daddy Says." This poem told of how a father was telling his son how it doesn't matter about what color our skin is we are all God's children and should get along with one another. A very moving thought in this day of unrest.

The meeting continued and the structural change was discussed and thought a conference with the other two districts would have to be tried to see if it would be satisfactory.

On Nov. 12 in Onaway there will be a family food fair from 9 to 10 p.m. and each week thereafter a different topic will be demonstrated and made till Dec. 17.

For further information contact Mrs. M. Lavin, at 932-5337. Registration fee is $3.50 per person or $1 per session and its sponsored by Onaway CWL.

The handicraft tea is on Nov. 17 not 18 as previously reported at Sangudo starting at 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

We were so happy to hear from the Leper, Mr. Menor. Mary Dalheim read two letters and he had surgery on his left eye and its healing well and his sight is better.

will have the honor.

Liz McLeod and Daphne Kerr received their reward for accompanying Mrs. L'Arme with regard to our making the cook book.

The roll call was to bring a sample of baking or preserves and most brought and exchanged the jams, jellies etc. A few paid their fine.

The November meeting and our annual meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Bergstreiser on Nov. 24 and the roll call is "come as you are." Visitors are always welcome.

A Natural Gas Service Reminder from Northwestern Utilities, Limited

Give Your Heating System a Safety Check-up

Normally, your natural gas appliances and heating system operate with little care or maintenance. However, an annual check-up will ensure full efficient operation and complete comfort. To help you inspect your heating system, use this handy guide.

CHECK YOUR CHIMNEY:

Loose mortar, soot, and other debris may accumulate at the base of the chimney obstructing free passage of the products of combustion. Watch that ice and snow on top of the chimney do not cause blockage.

RANGES SHOULD NOT BE USED TO HEAT A ROOM:

Do not use your kitchen range to heat a room. Use a proper heater, designed for the purpose.

CHECK ALL VENT PIPES:

Examine all appliance vent pipes. A dislodged vent may block the end of the pipe, or permit exhaust to enter the room.

BE ALERT TO DANGER SIGNALS:

Smarting of the eyes, nose irritation and unpleasant odors are indications of fumes in your home.

FRESH AIR SOURCE:

Be sure there is a source of fresh air in your home. Do not keep your house "air-tight". Your gas appliances, like you, need air.

P.S. Note re furnace filters!

Now's the time to check filters on your natural gas furnace. Filters that are clogged with dust and dirt cause heat loss, and can cause damage to your furnace. Furnace filters should be replaced or cleaned at least twice a year.

Bellerose School -

A forerunner to Athabasca University

Mr. Peter Bellerose, for whom the Bellerose school was named, and Mrs. Bellerose, raised a happy family of 12 children. Shown standing, from left to right, top row: Margaret Belway, Dorothy Chartrand, Babe Lolselle, Lillian Iseke, Fred, George, Pat (deceased) and Robert. Second row: Laura Langley, Bertha Pare, Mrs. Bellerose, Tom and Harry.

A FEATURE ARTICLE BY OLIVE HARROLD (NEE HOLMES) WHO TAUGHT BELLEROSE SCHOOL FROM 1929 - 1931.

Not far from where the Athabasca University complex will stand there is a piece of ground once occupied by a much humbler institution of learning. This institution was the little country school house known as Bellerose Catholic Public School, No. 6. It was the sixth Catholic Public School to be established in what was then known as the North West Territories, which at that time included part of Manitoba, most of Alberta and Saskatchewan as well as the present North West Territories. In a well preserved account book there are records dating back to 1896, nine years before Alberta became a province.

for storing outer clothing. MR. PETER BELLEROSE

Pot bellied stoves and outdoor plumbing

The heating unit was a wood fuelled pot bellied stove in the middle of the room. On cold winter mornings its fat sides turned red with effort as it struggled to heat the room. The hot air went up to the high ceiling, so to get warm, the occupants had to keep turning like a roaster on a spit. In 1897 four loads of wood cost $6.

The air conditioning was primitive. The only way to cool the room in summer was by opening the door and windows. At that time the world was not being polluted by DDT. A note in an old account book states, "Paid to W. J. Walker," (which later became Johnstone Walker Ltd.) "for 10 1/2 yards of netting for windows at 10¢ per yard $1.05."

Little air could get through the cloth netting so J. E. Campbell and his pupils had their choice; they could open the net covered windows and roast, or open the door and slap or swat at the insect invasion.

The plumbing consisted of two biffies situated at a suitable distance from the school. The distance was suitable from an adult's point of view, but to a grade one pupil crawling through the snow drifts on a cold winter day the distance seemed endless. The pill box biffies were subject to wind storm and the whims of hallowe'en pranksters, so that seldom a year went by without a call to the school board to come and raise them from a horizontal to a vertical position.

The little Red Barn

The little red barn was another necessary school building. It housed the school ponies that provided the chief means of transportation to the school. Some of the ponies were well cared for with plenty to eat, a clean stall and good bedding. Others were neglected; they were fed spasmodically and their stalls seldom bedded or cleaned.

In about 1916, because of another shift in population, all these buildings were moved to another part of the section.

There are signs of the buildings there now. When the Aberhart government consolidated the small rural schools into bigger districts Bellerose became part of the larger Namao School District. For some time the buildings remained idle. Then Andy Kennedy took the lumber from them to repair his other farm buildings.

When the old log school and its successor served the Bellerose area the aims of education and the methods of teaching were very different from those of today.

Because of its affiliation with the Roman Catholic Church catechism was taught at Bellerose by priests who came by horse and buggy from St. Albert. At one time a protestant teacher, Ben Parker, taught catechism under the occasional supervision of the priests.

John Harrold, secretary-treasurer at the school from about 1908 until 1936, during which time he also served as a trustee, and Mrs. Harrold. He preserved the record journal which was kept from 1896 until 1936 and makes very interesting reading today. His son Jack Harrold is now on the family farm and the Harrolds raised two daughters, Mrs. Maxine (Bud) Leclair living in the area, and Mrs. Catherine (Bruce) Carruthers, deceased, of Excelsior district.

'Readin, 'Ritin and 'Rithmetic

Mainly however, Bellerose was devoted to the teaching of the three R's; 'readin, 'ritin' and 'rithmetic.

In 1897 Miss Victoria Page spelled, "c-a-t cat, r-a-t rat," and magically the children learned to read. In 1919 Miss Kelly taught, "cuh-ah-tuh cat," and "buh-ah-tuh bat," and pupils learned to read from the Alexander readers using the much criticised 'sound' system. By 1946 it was no surprise to Miss Shamchuk that her grade one class had learned to read when she taught them whole words such as run, jump, Dick and Jane, before she taught individual letters or phrases.

Miss Coffee noticed in 1899 that the copy book method of teaching writing produced very satisfactory results, especially among the Indians and Metis who seemed to have better muscular control than white children of the same age group. Miss McFarlane who taught in Bellerose in 1916 believed in encouraging her pupils to use full arm movement to produce fast writing and flowing letters. Later Miss Bates was sure that, if printing was used in grades 1 and 2, no early bad writing habits would mar the writing in the upper grades. But still there were good and poor writers.

In the days when Bellerose was operational there was no "new math." There was some controversy whether pupils ought to be taught subtraction by 'borrowing' from the number above or 'paying back' to the number below.

For instance should --

-28
-----

be calculated by doing

8 9 6 or 9 16
-2 8 or 2 8
6 8 or 6 8

However methods used by teachers in teaching math were not a worry to either school inspector Fife or LeBlanc. Then arithmetic consisted of memorizing and manipulating facts concerning addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Little emphasis was placed on the understanding of mathematical concepts. The pursuit of knowledge at Bellerose did not end with the three R's.

The Spelling Match

In the early days J. J. Knoll taught spelling with the help of a gimmick that often laid low the proud and made giants out of the humble and meek. He held a monthly or weekly spelling match. Every child in the room was chosen as a member of one of two teams. Then the teams lined up in battle formation on either side of the room and the firing began. The teacher gave a spelling word suitable to his grade level to each contestant in turn. If a pupil failed to spell correctly he sat down and the next person in line on the opposite team tried to spell the word. The team with the last member standing won the game. Talk about your hockey heroes! The sweet taste of triumph could lighten a good speller's step all the way home to a proud mother. However, students don't spell orally but in sentence context so the spelling matches became obsolete.

Copy Art and Other Subject

When Miss Snyder taught art in 1933 the main objective of an art lesson was to get pupils to duplicate in pencil or paint such things as another drawing or a still life group. Children with no talent for this type of art could not find release through self expression in finger painting, collages or other art forms. The gifted children enjoyed the art period, but the less gifted erased and erased until they had made holes in their paper and thought the day would never end.

Some of the subjects once taught at Bellerose have since been either included in other subjects or dropped completely. Practical grammar is now part of the language course. Nature study, in a different form is included in science courses.

The Nature Study curriculum was designed to teach a pupil the nature of the world around a country child. Children and teachers learned the names, characteristics and habitat of the plants, (such as wild flowers) and the animals, (such as birds) around them. Geography and history have become part of the social studies program.

Tractors versus Horses

Because agriculture was Alberta's life blood, a course in agriculture was once one of the compulsory subjects taught in grades 7 and 8. An old text of that period states, "It is doubtful if the tractor will ever replace the horse in farming operations." Then too the future of farming practices was hard to predict. As very few pupils continued their education after grade eight, a useful course in civics was given in that grade. It was concerned with the forms and operation of all levels of government,

Trustees had the last word

No account of education at Bellerose would be complete without reference to the all powerful local board of trustees. They collected taxes to pay for the buildings and the teacher's salary. They hired and fired the teachers. Sometimes the local farmers could not pay their taxes and bank notes were long overdue. At one such time a devoted secretary went without his salary and paid his taxes in advance.

Because there were both protestants and catholics on the school board, a compromise concerning religion was made when hiring a teacher. If the applicant stated her religion was made stated her religion in her letter, the application was not considered. The Alberta Teacher's Association had not yet obtained security of tenure for teachers, so those who disciplined children of board members or of their friends often discovered that their agreement had lapsed at the end of a school term.

Bellerose school no longer exists. Much of its teaching, as with all learning, is forgotten. But early efforts to educate in the region to be occupied by the Athabasca University need not be totally forgotten.

IT WOULD BE VERY APPROPRIATE INDEED IF THE FIRST BUILDING ERECTED ON THE NEW UNIVERSITY CAMPUS WAS CALLED BELLEROSE.

Alex Sinclair - a Bellerose school teacher and brother of Maude McDonell who is presently making her home in the Namsa district. He is the son of Peter Sinclair.

What the well-dressed student wore to school back in 1920. We wonder if even the people in these two pictures will remember these styles! Girls in the top pictures are Louise Ratcliffe, Catherine Harrold and Annie Gardner in the back row, and in the bottom two, from left are Barrie Sinclair, Mammie Fortvelt, Mary Latimer, Maggie Gardner and Lena Gardner.

canvass underway for arena

Arena fund raising campaign chairman A. Laplante reports that early returns from canvassers indicate that the final phase of the arena fund raising campaign will probably add approximately $15,000 towards the completion of the inside of the arena.

For those citizens not already canvassed, St. Albert citizens are reminded that volunteer canvassers will be calling on their doors in the near future. Citizens are asked to donate towards this worthy community cause and are reminded that any contribution will be appreciated. A guideline for donors is that $10 per donor is required to net the required amount of $25,000.

Contributions are considered charitable donations for income tax purposes.

Citizens are reminded that this recreational facility will contribute immensely towards the welfare of our community.

Thank You

To all the people of St. Albert and the Sturgeon district who voted for me, and to campaign chairmen and others who worked closely with me, my heartfelt thanks. It was thrilling to see so many people out to the convention and showing such obvious interest in provincial government affairs. If we continue to work together I am sure that we can win the next campaign also.

United Church speaks on Ryerson sale

The United Church of Canada has announced the sale of the publishing division of the Ryerson Press to the McGraw-Hill Company of Canada Limited. The church made the following statement in connection with the sale:

Involved in the sale are the inventory of trade and school text books, some physical assets, and the Ryerson Press name, which will continue to be used by McGraw-Hill. Ryerson Press is the oldest publishing firm in Canada, and has been a wholly-owned publishing and printing arm of the United Church.

The church will retain, for the time being, the commercial printing operation which was associated with Ryerson Press, and the building in which it was housed at 299 Queen Street West. The church will continue to operate the United Church Publishing House, which publishes the United Church Observer and internal Christian educational resource materials. The financial impact of the sale will increase the church's ability to continue these programs.

The sale was announced by Dr. Frank G. Brisbin, secretary of the Division of Communication for the United Church, following approval of McGraw-Hill's offer at a special meeting of the sub-executive of the church's general council.

Dr. Brisbin said the church regrets that there was no way for it to continue operating one of Canada's few remaining independent book publishing houses due to Ryerson's severe capital and operating losses which have required heavy subsidization from the church.

"During the past few years the financial difficulties of the house have increased due to technological changes in printing, new forms of education and publishing and the decreasing demand for church publications generally. The business by 1969 required the loan of one million dollars from the church as well as substantial bank loans backed by the church," Dr. Brisbin said.

This led the church in 1969 to authorize the sale of the enterprise -- rather than winding it up -- in the hope that it could continue to make a contribution on the Canadian publishing scene. There was no indication of adequate help from any other source.

"It was hoped to find a Canadian buyer and we have been looking for a year," Dr. Brisbin said. "At the end, the best Canadian offer would have left us short of working capital for our own church publishing needs to an almost incapacitating degree.

"While we recognize and understand the reaction of many Canadians to the question of increasing foreign ownership, this sale does not militate against Canadian content in school books," he said.

"Canadian content in school books is controlled and protected by the provincial departments of education and the local school boards. This issue is also recognized by McGraw-Hill in its own publishing program."

Dr. Brisbin said, "since their establishment in Canada in 1947, McGraw-Hill have involved the contributions of 500 Canadians in their text books used across Canada. More than 60 per cent of their sales to elementary and high schools

Morinville CWL plan busy season

The regular meeting of the St. John the Baptist Parish Council of the CWL was held on Monday, Nov. 2.

Miss Cecile Beaupre and Miss Louise Boissonnault honored our meeting with a very interesting talk on their trip to Quebec and the Maritime Provinces last summer on an exchange student program. The CWL assisted Miss Beaupre and Miss Boissonnault financially to help them make this trip possible.

The CWL will hold a Lamplighter Party on Friday, Nov. 27, 8 p.m. at the Centre. Entry fee will be $1 per person for an evening of live entertainment; refreshments will be available and lunch will be served.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

The $50 scholarship will be presented to the most deserving grade nine student on Saturday, Nov. 14. An annual CWL undertaking. Tea, bake sale and raffle planned for Dec. 5.

A demonstration of Christmas decorations will be presented by Miss Denise Chevalier at our next regular CWL meeting on Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. in the rectory meeting room.

Please support your CWL projects as all proceeds will go towards our scholarship fund and purchasing of kindergarten equipment which is so badly needed in order to keep a kindergarten available to our pre-schoolers.
